

Bulk Services: A Smarter Choice for Your Community

What Is Bulk Service?

Bulk service is a cost-effective way for entire communities—such as HOAs, condo associations, and apartment complexes—to purchase internet, TV, and phone services as a group. Instead of residents buying services individually, the community negotiates a contract with a provider to deliver high-quality service to all homes at a significantly lower cost.

Why Should Your Community Consider Bulk?

1

Lower Costs for Residents

Bulk pricing means residents pay up to 50% less than standard retail rates.

No individual negotiations or unexpected price hikes.

2

Revenue Benefits for the HOA or Association

The community association often receives a one-time lump sum payment from the provider.

These funds can be used for capital improvements or other community enhancements.

3

Guaranteed High-Quality Service

Customized service plans ensure the community's most important performance standards are met.

The provider is contractually committed to delivering reliable, top-tier service.

4

Dedicated Support & White-Glove Customer Service

Each community has a dedicated support team for fast assistance.

Same-day or next-day technical support for residents.

Bulk agreements often include free services in common areas, adding value to the community.

5

Transparent & Predictable Pricing

Locked-in rates for 8-10 years, preventing unpredictable price increases.

Annual increases capped at 4%, compared to traditional plans that increase by over 30% once a promo period ends.

How Does It Work?

The HOA or property manager partners with a provider to negotiate the best deal for the community.

Every home in the community automatically receives the agreed-upon services.

Residents enjoy premium service at a lower cost with seamless support.
