

Tips for Leaving for The Season

If you're a seasonal customer heading to your secondary home, Blue Stream Fiber makes it easy to stay connected. A little planning before you leave can help ensure you continue getting the most out of your services while you're away — and that everything is ready for a seamless transition when you return home. Here are a few simple tips to keep your services running smoothly and ensure you don't miss a moment of entertainment:

1. Keep Your Equipment Plugged In

Keeping your equipment (fiber modem and set-top boxes) connected allowing your system to receive important updates as they are released and helps ensure everything is operating properly when you return for the season.

2. Use the Blue Stream Fiber TV App

To maximize your viewing options while you're in your secondary home, take advantage of the Blue Stream Fiber TV App. The app allows you to stream many of your favorite channels and programs from your secondary home on a TV using an Apple TV or Amazon Fire TV Stick, or directly on your mobile device or tablet. Simply download the app, log in, and start watching. For instructions on how to take advantage, visit here.

3. Bring Your Login Information

Before you travel, bring your Blue Stream Fiber TV App username and password with you and consider logging in ahead of time to ensure everything works smoothly once you arrive. If you don't currently have a watchTVeverywhere account set up or know how to access the app, see bullet above for resources. Must-watch shows before you leave for the season. Just log in, browse the guide, and choose your channel to start watching.

4. Explore the Channel Lineup

Channel availability outside your primary home is determined by individual programmers, so streaming access may vary by network. Some channels are available for out-of-home viewing, while others may have limitations. You can view the most up-to-date out-of-home channel lineup at bluestreamfiber.com/seasonal or scan the QR code to see what's available while you're away.

If you attempt to watch a channel outside your Florida home network that is not authorized for out-of-home viewing, you may see a message stating the content isn't available. This is normal and reflects programming restrictions set by the channel providers.
